
Date : 9 Oct 2012

Publication : Beijing Daily (北京日報)

(http://www.bjd.com.cn.pn1.in/10jsxw/201210/09/t20121009_3432993.html)

Ucan's first Chinese Cultural Industry Summit

Ucan.com is a subsidiary of Culturecom (343.HK), which is among the first listed comic enterprise and the largest comic content provider in Asia, owning the copyrights of more than 10,000 popular 3D comic characters, over 400,000 manuscripts and over 200 widespread stories. In the past 40 years, Culturecom's comics have been distributed around the globe with millions of fans. These classic comics have become a representative and unique asset of Hong Kong's local culture. Other than the publishing business, Culturecom has also authorized Chinese Gamers Corporation to develop Chinese Hero Online Game in 2009, which achieved revenue of HKD 550 million in 2 years, and has been the highest record of in the comics industry.

To further promote the Chinese culture to the globe, Culturecom and the Asian superstar Jay Chou established Ucan Cloud City in 2011. With the music talent of Jay Chou, the large cultural resources of Culturecom and the Cloud computing technology, Ucan Cloud City will become the first social platform featuring the Hong Kong city life.

Ucan.com has a strong management team. Besides the founding shareholders Culturecom and Jay, the ex- China Unicom Executive Director Dr. William Lo is the chairman of the Global Development Committee of Ucan.com and the ex-general manager of Oracle Corporation Mr. Michael Leung is now the CEO of the committee.

--END--