Ucan the world's first 3D Cloud Cultural Park
Business matching and cooperation forum in Hong Kong

Ucan.com, a subsidiary of Culturecom (343.HK), organized a business matching and cooperation forum for the cultural content creation industry in the Hong Kong Science & Technology Parks recently.

During the event, Ucan.com was being introduced to concert producers, music content providers, online game developers, merchandise designers and apps developers etc. to explore opportunities for potential collaborations.

CEO of Ucan.com Mr. Michael Leung introduced, "Cooperated by Culturecom and Asian superstar Jay Chou, Ucan.com Culture Park is an online platform that incorporates online music, online movies, online games, online social network, online books and comics with Hong Kong local culture and Chinese arts. It is also an open platform for users to interact, create and share," he continued, "A singing contest Socialoke will be the first promotion campaign of Ucan.com. The winner will have the chance to participate in Jay Chou's world tour concert next year. Other than the PC edition, Socialoke can also be connected via mobile devices and browsers for instant communications without boundaries."
